Faubus Considers a Corporation for Each School

MEMPHIS (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he is considering a proposal to provide each one of the Little Rock high schools with its own private corporation and board.

The governor revealed this plan en route to Lexington, Ky., to attend the Southern Governors Conference. He stopped for breakfast here.

The plan to have a separate private corporation to operate each high school was new thinking, Faubus said. It would give the people in the area of each school a chance to operate and support their own private school.

Faubus telephoned Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon at 6:30 a.m. today to tell him "you are going to be governor for a while." Faubus told the Lieutenant Governor he regretted having to awaken him at that hour but had failed to make contact with Gordon for the last two days.

Gordon replied "I hope you have a more pleasant trip than you did last year and I hope I have a quieter time in your absence."

It was about this time last year when Faubus left for the conference at Sea Island, Ga., and troops of the 101st Airborne landed in Little Rock. They had taken up positions around Central High when Faubus returned.

Faubus last night presented his plan for operating Little Rock high schools as private institutions to avoid integration.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas Thursday night offered the people of Little Rock what he termed a legal plan for private, segregated schools and asked them to vote for segregated classes.

In Virginia, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. closed white schools as rapidly as the courts ordered them to admit Negroes.

UN Committee Okays Shelving of China Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Steering Committee approved today a U. S. proposal that the General Assembly shelve for another year the question of admitting Communist China.

The vote was 127 in favor of recommending to the Assembly that it postpone any consideration of either admitting Communist China or ousting Nationalist China. Two nations abstained, Greece and Mexico.

The vote in the 21-nation committee came after heated debate in which U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge charged the Soviet Union with vilifying the United States.

He was replying to accusations by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin that the United States supported Nationalist China with "bayonets and handouts," and bears chief responsibility for the crisis in the Formosa Strait over the islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States formally proposed today that the U. N. postpone action on the seating of Red China for at least another year. The move was made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in the General Assembly's powerful Steering Committee.

Lodge spoke after Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon urged full debate at the current Assembly session on the highly controversial issue of giving China's seat to the Peking regime.

The U. S. proposal was similar to motions adopted by the Assembly in previous years. There appeared no doubt that it would be approved again this time.

Lodge told the committee "this year, of all years, is not the time" to consider ousting Nationalist China and seating the Chinese Communists. He made no direct reference to the Chinese Communist attacks on Formosa, but spoke only of "recent developments" in the Far East.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang blasted the Peking regime as a product of Soviet indirect aggression and subversion, and declared it does not represent the Chinese people. He also asserted it had been branded by the U. N. as an aggressor.

Pressure for an early Steering Committee vote came from the United States and India after Assembly President Charles Malik had postponed the question twice in as many days.

The United States, angered over the repeated delays, was confident the U. N. would follow past procedure and vote to shelve the issue for another year.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described as shocked by the postponements. A U. S. spokesman said: "We want a vote and we want it now."

The spokesman said the United States did not want to duck debate in the full Assembly by letting the question get bottled up in the Steering Committee.

India's Delegate Arthur S. Lall also said he did not intend to talk out of pressing his request to give the Peking government a seat in the U. N. "We are going ahead," he said.

For several years neutralist India has supported Red China year after year. This year the Soviet press and radio has been laying the groundwork for India's diplomatic move with claims that the Formosa crisis pointed up Peking's absence from the world forum.

Informed sources said the move to disavow the United States and India from pressing their rival proposals to a vote came from Ireland, Australia, Canada and Ceylon.

Their move was based on the theory that if the committee votes at all, its report would automatically go to the General Assembly.

Calif. Judge Favors Legal Prostitution

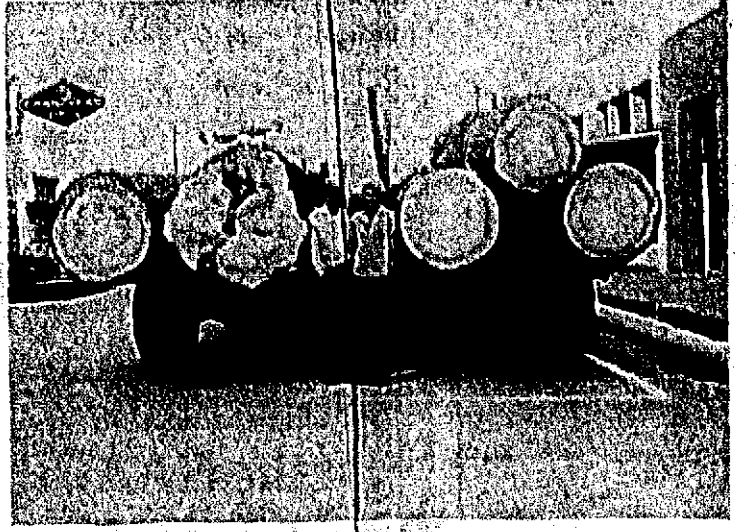

WALNUT GROVE, Calif. (AP)—Judge Milo R. Dye, who will be 78 Nov. 12, says he favors state-controlled houses of prostitution. The judge made that statement to newspapermen Thursday after assessing a total of $650 in fines from a man and four women who had been arrested in a brothel raid.

He had to enforce the law even if he did not agree with it, he declared.

State-controlled houses, he said, would protect young juveniles and virtuous women.

The judge mentioned the large numbers of transient workers in his area, which is about 40 miles northwest of San Francisco. He said he should have the opportunity to obtain a permanent solution.

The judge is retiring Dec. 21 to go fishing and said his statement was an "ideal" way to leave with the boys.

The drivers, left to right, are Earl Needham and Clyde Amos of Blevins Rt. 1. The five logs above represent 4,300 board feet of lumber and two more logs from the same tree will cut out 700 feet, a total of 5,000 feet from one pine. The logs were sold to Anthony.

A-Weapon Is Exploded Over Desert

By JACK LEFLER

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A tiny, but powerful, atomic weapon exploded over the desert today as the seventh and possibly final nuclear test series opened at this southern Nevada proving ground.

A brilliant flash cut through the morning sunlight as the device went off beneath a balloon at 500 feet elevation.

A light brown cloud, without the usual atomic mushroom shape, shot up over the floor of Yucca Flat at 7 a.m.

The sound and the shock waves were hardly noticeable at News Nob 10 1/2 miles away.

A 10-shot series has been planned, but must end before Oct. 31, effective date of President Eisenhower's proposal for a one-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Miss Amy Sue Jones of Little Rock and two brothers, B. J. Jones of Welch, Texas and R. P. Jones of Lamesa, Texas. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday at Laneburg Cemetery in charge of Herndon-Corpus of Hope.

Snark Streaks Off in Another Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark guided missile streaked aloft today on the start of another 6,000-mile flight across the Atlantic.

The 99-foot Snark, which has been shot from the Cape more than 50 times, at present is the only U. S. missile capable of traveling intercontinental range.

Two booster rockets flashed a bright stream of orange flame as the Snark streaked across the Cape and out over the sea. After a few seconds, the boosters broke away and a turbojet engine cut in.

The missile, developed by Northrop, has a speed of only 600 m.p.h. but it is capable of self-guidance. It launched off course, the Snark's airborne guidance system can correct the trajectory automatically.

Cyprus Vice Consul in Critical Shape

Vice Consul John Page Wentworth was in dangerous condition today with three bullet wounds inflicted by a young gunman who may have believed he was shooting a Bron.

To gunman fired over the barricade as Wentworth stood behind his home Thursday night. The 33-year-old diplomat had just been romping with his 3-year-old daughter Caroline. He was hit twice in the stomach and once in the leg.

It was taken to the British military hospital, where his condition was said to be critical. The gunman escaped.

About the same time a British airman was slightly wounded by a man a couple of blocks away and two Turkish Cypriot policemen also were wounded.

Police authorities quickly imposed a general overnight curfew and an indefinite house curfew for all Greek Cypriot men between 15 and 25.

There was speculation that Wentworth had been mistaken for a Jewish citizen, the main target of Greek Cypriot terrorists trying to win freedom for this British crown colony to join Greece.

Anative of Worcester, Mass., Wentworth was graduated from the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland. He was a Navy officer and an electronics engineer before joining the consular service in 55. He served as a vice consul in Medellin, Colombia, before coming here.

Department Store Sales Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Department store sales showed a slight rise of one per cent last week in the eighth Federal Reserve District compared to the same week of last year.

Louisville showed a gain of 1 per cent. Memphis 7 per cent, and seven smaller district cities combined, 8 per cent. This offset 1 per cent declines in St. Louis and Little Rock.

For the past four weeks, the Eighth District showed a gain of 3 per cent.

Governor Asks Support of the Public

By ROBERT E. FORD

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus last night presented his plan for operating Little Rock's high schools as private institutions to avoid integration. He pleaded for public support.

In a televised address, he told the people: "If you stand fast, we can win."

Voters will decide in a Sept. 27 referendum whether schools are to be integrated here.

Faubus closed the city's four high schools rather than permit Central High School to open Monday with a Supreme Court order for integration hanging over it.

"If we lose the struggle," Faubus told his audience, "then we have done all that we possibly can do, and the guilt for the harm that may come cannot be charged to us."

The governor spelled out how the high schools, under his plan, would function through the lease of facilities in a private corporation. They would be segregated and state tax money would support them.

Faubus made it plain in the 30-minute speech that his stand against school integration here was unchanged.

He told newsmen later that he had found no legal rulings where school board members can be held in contempt of federal courts if they lease the schools to a private group.

The governor spoke on the eve of his scheduled departure from Arkansas to attend the four-day Southern Governors' Conference at Lexington, Ky.

Meanwhile, these other developments took place in the year-long, violence-marked struggle over integration of Central High School.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom announced that televised classes will begin Monday for students of the four high schools Faubus has closed. Faubus closed them, he said, because at least one faced forced integration and because he believed violence would result.

A group of 18 persons formally organized the "Little Rock Private School Corp." with the aim of opening the high schools as private institutions.

The Justice Department announced it was sending some U. S. deputy and special marshals home. The agency gathered more than 150 officers here obviously to carry out federal court integration orders. As they convened, Faubus closed the schools and the marshals have not acted.

A group of more than 50 women calling themselves the "Women's Emergency Committee to Open Our Schools," stepped up its campaign for a favorable integration vote in the school district's Sept. 27 integration-segregation referendum.

The women issued a statement saying committee members stand "neither for nor against integration... our sole aim is to get our four high schools open." The committee earlier said it believes no way exists to keep the schools open on a segregated basis.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declined to comment on the governor's talk. Also not commenting was Wayne Upson, school board president.

Faubus declared "The Supreme Court shut its eyes to all the facts of this case. It is up to the people to get the truth out."

Living in U.S. Time in Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs as measured by the government dropped in August for the first time in two years. The fall was two-tenths of one per cent.

The Labor Department attributed the decline to the usual late summer drop in food prices as fruits and vegetables hit the market in quantity.

Bryan Clague, the government's price expert, said no sustained living cost decline is in sight.

He forecast the consumer price level will stay at approximately where it is for the next few months.

Clague indicated belief the index may show a further small decline when September data is available because of continued late summer food price reductions.

The government index for August announced today was 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is 2.2 per cent higher than in August last year.

The index had hit a record level 21 times in the past 24 months. This was a rise of about 6 per cent in general living costs in two years.

There is no sizable group of workers whose pay rates require adjustment because of labor contracts geared to the August index.

The Labor Department reported that spendable earnings of factory workers rose slightly between July and August.

A worker with three dependents averaged $75.50 a week after tax deduction. The single worker averaged $58.48.

These earning figures are somewhat higher than a year ago but represent reduced buying power because of living cost increases since then.

The food price decline in August was fairly general. Prices for meats, fruit and vegetables were all lower. Prices for eggs, milk and restaurant meals rose somewhat.

Transportation, housing, medical care and recreation costs were all higher.

Educators Plan Meet to Keep Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state meeting will be held here tomorrow by leaders of a fight to keep Arkansas' three per cent sales tax.

R. A. Lynce of Tyson, chairman of the Committee for Retention of the Sales Tax, said no issue facing Arkansas was more crucial than retention of the tax boost.

He said the increase, passed by the 1957 Legislature, was required to finance public education and governmental services.

The state's voters will decide in the November general election whether to reduce the sales tax to the former two per cent.

At tomorrow's meeting, a panel discussion will discuss the benefits of retaining the tax.

Panel members will be state Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney; Mrs. J. R. Sink of Newport, a PTA leader; Dr. Carl R. Rong, president of Arkansas State College at Jonesboro; Forrest Rozell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Assn.; and Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas.

Yesterday Dr. Caldwell criticized the proposed reduction in a speech to the Little Rock civic club. He said the university needed revenue from the increase.

NAACP Seeks Quick Action at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—NAACP lawyers confer today after being blocked in efforts for a quick meeting on their plea for an injunction to force Memphis State to admit Negro students.

Judge M. S. Boyd declined a proposed hearing date of Sept. 24. That's the day he will convene court in Jackson, Tenn., he said, and the session is expected to last about two weeks.

If T. Lockard of Memphis, one of three Negro lawyers hired by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to help the Negro students, said he would talk with associates on what step to take next.

The issue was taken to court after the state Board of Education granted Memphis State a request for a two year delay in integration. The decision blocked eight Negroes from the freshman class. They had passed entrance examinations.

U. S. Command in Formosa Is Reorganized

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The United States has announced reorganization of the American advisory command in Formosa, making it—in effect—a regular combat command.

The announcement by the commander of the U. S. Formosa Defense Command, Vice Adm. Holland N. Smoot, said the step was taken to attain an adequate defense posture in the face of recent stepped-up Chinese Communist actions.

In the Quemoy area, Communist and Nationalist guns thundered in fresh battle today. The Nationalists said the Reds fired 6,613 shells between noon and 6 p.m. The bombardment was particularly heavy while three LSTs—Landing Ship, Tanks—were unloading supplies at Quemoy.

The Defense Ministry here said the ships accomplished their mission without damage and returned safely to base, presumably the Pescadore Islands.

Smoot's command, announced that the United States has augmented its Army, Navy and Air Force in the Formosa area. It said this augmentation has established a requirement for operational control of all forces assigned to the Formosa area.

The announcement said the Joint Chiefs of Staff established the U. S. Formosa Defense Command as a subordinate unified command under the commander in chief, Pacific. Over-all direction remains under Smoot.

Maj. Gen. Leander Donn, chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group, is designated commanding general of the U. S. Army forces assigned to Formosa; Brig. Gen. Fred Den, commander of the U. S. Air Task Force, is designated commander of all Air Force units; and Rear Adm. Paul Blackburn, commander of the Formosa Strait Patrol, is designated commander of U. S. Navy units.

Smoot, the announcement said, will have under his direct operational control those forces necessary to discharge his mission of on-the-spot coordination of all U. S. operations in the Formosa area.

Reorganization of the U. S. Formosa command was announced as the Army assigned a Nike-Hercules missile battalion to the defense of the Nationalist stronghold.

Negroes Protest Negro Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — A small group of Negro parents protesting their children's assignment to heavily Negro schools in Harlem have appealed to state officials for intervention.

The parents of the nine seventh-graders involved have refused to send their children to the schools, which are almost entirely Negro. They want them assigned to better-integrated schools outside the Harlem area which they contend provide better educational programs.

There is no intended racial segregation in New York City schools. But neighborhood racial patterns made up mostly of one race or sometimes create student bodies the other.

In a telegram to State Commissioner of Education James Allen Jr., the parents' attorney asked for a hearing on the dispute and a state investigation of conditions in Harlem schools. The attorney, Paul B. Zuber, said that forcing parents to send their children to schools where they allegedly would receive unequal educational opportunities is a violation of their rights.

Faubus Considers a Corporation for Each School

MEMPHIS (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he is considering a proposal to provide each one of the Little Rock high schools with its own private corporation and board.

The governor revealed this plan on route to Lexington, Ky., to attend the Southern Governors Conference. He stopped for breakfast here.

The plan to have a separate private corporation to operate each high school was new thinking, Faubus said. It would give the people in the area of each school a chance to operate and support their own private school.

Gordon replied: "I hope you have a more pleasant trip than you did last year and I hope I have a quieter time in your absence."

It was about this time last year when Faubus left for the conference at San Francisco, Calif., and troops of the 101st Airborne landed in Little Rock. They had taken up positions around Central High when Faubus returned.

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A federal judge today denied a request that he order the Van Buren School Board to reinstate integration halted two weeks ago by a boycott of white students.

S. District Judge John E. Miller said he believed the school board and faculty members of Van Buren High had done all they could in an effort to carry out integration.

He said he would retain jurisdiction so he could act if the situation did not clear up.

The action was asked by U. S. Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond Jr. in Dallas, Texas, regional counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He acted on behalf of several of the 16 Negro students involved.

There was no immediate indication of plans by the 13 Negro high school students and five junior high students. They have remained away from classes since a group of some 45 white students refused to attend integrated classes and threatened violence to restore segregation.

UAW Turns to Other Motor Companies

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers' called their Executive Council today to review the Ford settlement today to review the Ford settlement and decide whether to accept the settlement or to go on strike.

Approval of the Ford pact was assured but there was no indication what the board's decision would be on the other auto companies.

The union warned both GM and Chrysler that it was running out of Douglas Fraser, leader of the UAW team at Chrysler, said that "unless the pace picks up, Chrysler negotiations we will ask the Executive Board for permission to set a strike date."

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the GM Department, showed similar impatience.

With the Ford agreement in hand, the union now has a lever to exert pressure on other companies. Both Woodcock and Fraser have said they hope to improve on the three-year Ford pact.

Offers reportedly similar to the one Ford first made to the UAW Monday still are on the table at the other two auto companies.

The Ford settlement gave the UAW pay boosts, increased pensions, severance pay, cost-of-living and improvement factor for allowances, compensation for those on short work weeks and extended supplemental unemployment pay.

UN Committee Okays Shelving of China Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Steering Committee approved today a U. S. proposal that the General Assembly shelving for another year the question of admitting Communist China.

The vote was 12-7 in favor of recommending to the Assembly that it postpone any consideration of either admitting a Communist China or ousting Nationalist China. Two nations abstained, Greece and Mexico.

The vote in the 21-nation committee came after heated debate in which U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge charged the Soviet Union with vilifying the United States.

He was replying to accusations by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian orin that the United States supported Nationalist China with "bayonets and handouts," and bears chief responsibility for the crisis in the Formosa Strait over the islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States formally proposed today that the U. N. postpone action on the seating of Red China for at least another year.

The move was made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in the General Assembly's powerful Steering Committee.

Lodge spoke after Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon urged full debate at the current Assembly session on the highly controversial issue of giving China's seat to the Peiping regime.

The U. S. proposal was similar to motions adopted by the Assembly in previous years. There appeared no doubt that it would be approved again this time.

Lodge told the committee "this year, of all years, is not the time" to consider ousting Nationalist China and seating the Chinese Communists. He made no direct reference to the Chinese Communist attacks on Formosa, but spoke only of "recent developments" in the Far East.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang blasted the Peiping regime as a product of Soviet indirect aggression and subversion, and declared the people of the island of Formosa also branded by the U. N. as an aggressor.

Pressure for an early Steering Committee vote came from the United States and India after Assembly President Charles Malik had postponed the question twice in as many days.

The United States, angered over the repeated delays, was confident the U. N. would follow past procedure and vote to shelve the issue for another year.

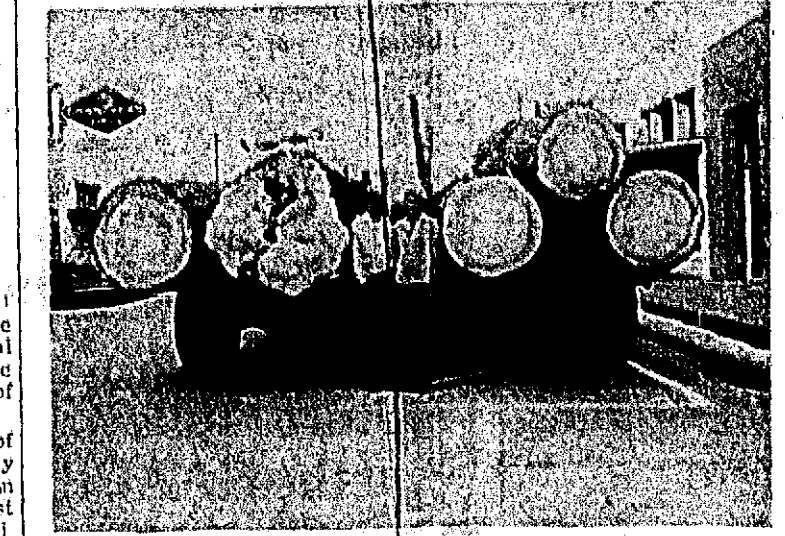

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was described as shocked by the postponements. A U. S. spokesman said: "We want a vote and we want it now."

The spokesman said the United States did not want to duck debate in the full Assembly by letting the question get bottled up in the Steering Committee.

India's Delegate Arthur S. Lall also said he did not intend to be talked out of pressing his request to give the Peiping government a seat in the U. N. "We are going ahead," he said.

For several years neutralist India has supported Red Chinese claims to a U. N. seat. This year the Soviet press and radio has been laying the groundwork for India's diplomatic move by claiming that the Formosa crisis pointed up Peiping's absence from the world forum.

A-Weapon Is Exploded Over Desert

By JACK LEFLER

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — A tiny, but powerful, atomic weapon exploded over the desert today as the seventh and possibly final nuclear test series opened at this southern Nevada proving ground.

A brilliant flash cut through the morning sunlight as the device went off beneath a balloon at 500 feet elevation.

A light brown cloud, without the usual atomic mushroom shape, shot up over the floor of Yucca Flat at 7 a. m.

The sound and the shock wave were hardly noticeable at News Nob 10 1/2 miles away.

A 10-shot series has been planned, but must end before Oct. 31, effective date of President Eisenhower's proposal for a one-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

Calif. Judge Favors Legal Prostitution

WALNUT GROVE, Calif. (AP) — Judge Milo E. Dye, who will be 78 Nov. 12, says he favors state controlled houses of prostitution.

The judge made that statement to newspapermen Thursday after assessing a total of 360 in fines from a man and four women who had been arrested in a brothel raid.

He had to enforce the law even if he did not agree with it, he declared.

Cyprus Vice Consul in Critical Shape

Vice Consul John Page Wentworth was in dangerous condition today with three bullet wounds inflicted by a young gunman who may have believed he was shooting a Bron.

The gunman fired over the garden fence as Wentworth stood behind his home Thursday night. The 33-year-old diplomat had just been coming with his 3-year-old daughter, Caroline. He was "hit twice in the stomach and once in the leg."

He was taken to the British military hospital, where his condition was said to be dangerous. The gunman escaped.

About the same time a British airman was slightly wounded by a gunman a couple of blocks away. Another Turkish Cypriot policeman also was wounded.

British authorities quickly imposed general overnight curfew and indefinite house curfew for all Greek Cypriot men between 15 and 25.

Tire was speculation that Wentworth had been mistaken for a Jewish citizen, the main target of Greek Cypriot terrorists trying to win freedom for this British crown colony to join Greece.

Annapolis of Worcester, Mass. Wentworth was graduated from the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland. He was a Navy officer and an electronics engineer before joining the consular service in 1955. He served as a vice consul in Medellin, Colombia, before coming here.

Snark Streaks Off in Another Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Snark guided missile streaked aloft today on the start of another 6,000-mile flight across the Atlantic.

The 68-foot Snark, which has been shot from the Cape more than 50 times, at present is the only U. S. missile capable of traveling intercontinental range.

Twin booster rockets flashed a bright stream of orange flame as the Snark skimmed across the Cape and out over the sea. After a few seconds, the boosters broke away and a turbojet engine cut in.

The missile developed a North-south speed of only 400 miles an hour, but is capable of several national accuracy. It launched on course, the Snark's airborne guidance system can correct the trajectory automatically.

Department Store Sales Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Department store sales showed a slight gain of one per cent last week in the eighth Federal Reserve District compared to the same week of last year.

Louisville showed a gain of 1 per cent, Memphis 7 per cent, and seven smaller district cities combined, 6 per cent. This offset 1 per cent declines in St. Louis and Little Rock.

For the past four weeks, the Eighth District showed a gain of 3 per cent.

Governor Asks Support of the Public

By ROBERT E. FORD

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus last night presented his plan for operating Little Rock's high schools as private institutions to avoid integration. He pleaded for public support.

In a televised address, he told the people: "If you stand fast, we can win."

Voters will decide in a Sept. 21 referendum whether schools are to be integrated here.

Faubus closed the city's four high schools rather than permit Central High School to open Monday with a Supreme Court order for integration hanging over it.

"If we lose the struggle," Faubus told his audience, "then we have done all that we possibly can do, and the guilt for the harm that may come cannot be charged to us."

The governor spelled out how the high schools, under his plan, would function through the lease of facilities to a private corporation. They would be segregated and state tax money would support them.

Faubus made it plain in the 30-minute speech that his stand against school integration here was unchanged.

He told newsmen later that he had found no legal rulings whereby school board members can be held in contempt of federal courts if they lease the schools to a private group.

The governor spoke on the eve of his scheduled departure from Arkansas to attend the four-day Southern Governors Conference at Lexington, Ky.

Meanwhile, these other developments took place in the year-long, violence-marked struggle over integration of Central High School: School Supt. Virgil Blossom announced that telecast classes will begin Monday for students of the four high schools Faubus has closed, because at least one faced forced integration and because he believed violence would result.

A group of six persons formally organized the "Little Rock Private School Corp." with the aim of opening the high schools as private institutions.

The Justice Department announced it was sending some U. S. deputy and special marshals home. The agency gathered more than 150 officers here obviously to carry out federal court integration orders.

As they convened, Faubus closed the schools and the marshals have not acted.

A group of more than 50 women calling themselves the "Women's Emergency Committee to Open Our Schools," stepped up its campaign for a favorable integration vote in the school district's Sept. 27 integration-segregation referendum.

The women issued a statement saying committee members stand "neither for nor against integration . . . our sole aim is to get our four high schools open." The committee earlier said it believes no way exists to keep the schools open on a segregated basis.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declined comment on the governor's talk. Also not commenting was Wayne Upton, school board president.

Faubus declared "The Supreme Court shut its eyes to all the Continued on Page Three

Living Cost Dips in U.S. for First Time in Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs as measured by the government dropped in August for the first time in two years. The fall was two-tenths of one per cent.

The Labor Department attributed the decline to the usual late summer drop in food prices as fruits and vegetables hit the market in quantity.

Ewan Clague, the government's price expert, said no sustained living cost decline is in sight.

He forecast the consumer price level will stay at approximately where it is for the next few months.

Clague indicated belief the index may show a further small decline when September data is available because of continued late summer food price reductions.

The government index for August announced today was 123.7 per cent of the 1947-48 average. This is 2.2 per cent higher than in August last year.

The index had hit a record level 21 times in the past 24 months. This was a rise of about 6 per cent in general living costs in two years.

There is no sizable group of workers whose pay rates require adjustment because of labor contracts geared to the August index.

The Labor Department reported that spendable earnings of factory workers rose slightly between July and August.

A worker with three dependents averaged $75.00 a week after tax deductions. The single worker averaged $80.48.

These earnings figures are somewhat higher than a year ago but represent reduced buying power because of living cost increases since then.

The food price decline in August was fairly general. "Prices for meats, fruit and vegetables were all lower. Prices for eggs, milk and restaurant meals rose somewhat."

Transportation, housing, medical care and recreation costs were all higher.

Educators Plan Meet to Keep Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A statewide meeting will be held here tomorrow by leaders of a fight to keep Arkansas' three per cent sales tax.

R. A. Lyncey of Tyrone, chairman of the Committee for Retention of the Sales Tax, said he issued a call to dispatch his mission on the spot coordination of all U. S. operations in the Formosa area.

Reorganization of the U. S. Formosa command was announced as the Army assigned a Nike-Hercules missile battalion to the defense of the Nationalist stronghold.

U. S. Command in Formosa Is Reorganized

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The United States has announced reorganization of the American advisory command on Formosa, making it — in effect — a regular combat command.

The announcement by the commander of the U. S. Formosa Defense Command, Vice Adm. Harold N. Smoot, said the step was taken in light of an adequate defense posture in the face of recent stepped-up Chinese Communist actions.

In the Quemoy area, Communist and Nationalist guns thundered in fresh battle today. The Nationalists said the Reds fired 6,813 shells between noon and 6 p. m. The bombardment was particularly heavy while three LSTs — Landing Ship, Tank — were unloading supplies at Quemoy. The Defense Ministry here said the ships accomplished their mission without damage and returned safely to base, presumably the Pescadore Islands.

Smoot's command announced that the United States has augmented its Army, Navy and Air Force in the Formosa area. It said this augmentation has established a "readiness for rapid action" and that the U. S. will continue to support the Nationalist government.

The announcement said the Joint Chiefs of Staff established the U. S. Formosa Defense Command as a subordinate unified command under the commander in chief, Pacific. Over-all direction remains under Smoot.

Maj. Gen. Leander Doan, chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group, is designated commanding general of the U. S. Army forces assigned to Formosa; Brig. Gen. Fred Den, commander of the U. S. Air Task Force, is designated commander of all Air Force units; and Rear Adm. Paul Blackburn, commander of the Formosa Strait Patrol, is designated commander of U. S. Navy units.

Smoot, the announcement said, will have under his direct operational control the U. S. forces necessary to dispatch his mission on the spot coordination of all U. S. operations in the Formosa area.

Reorganization of the U. S. Formosa command was announced as the Army assigned a Nike-Hercules missile battalion to the defense of the Nationalist stronghold.

To Decide on Suit Against James Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monitors appointed by a federal judge meet today to decide whether to suspend operations temporarily pending outcome of (A) Hoffa's threatened suit to oust one of the monitors, and (B) a new definition of his powers to police his scandal-battered union.

The Senate Rankers Committee Thursday ended seven weeks of hearings on misconduct charges against Hoffa and some of his lieutenants.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) said, "There is just no end to the scandals. The Teamster treasures seem to have attracted a host of parasites."

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) said, "The American people should rise up and demand that this thing be corrected."

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) then adjourned the inquiry until after the Nov. 4 elections.

With the temporary windup of the hearings, attention swung to a closed-door session of the board of monitors to consider more than 250 charges against Hoffa by a group of New York rank-and-file Teamsters demanding his ouster.

The same dissident group sought last year first to block the convention at which Hoffa was elected, and later to bar his taking of office. Their suit eventually was compromised with Hoffa taking office provisionally under supervision of the three-man monitor board named by Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Lettis.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, the New York lawyer who represented the dissidents in the suit, became one of the monitors. He said earlier this week he was considering a move to oust Hoffa.

Hoffa himself said he will ask Judge Lettis to remove Schmidt as a monitor. He accused Schmidt of filing excessive expense accounts and of a conflict of interest.

No Woman Is Perfect Says Designer

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Writer

"I've never yet found a perfect woman," says Charles LeMaire, who for the last 25 years has designed costumes for the most famous beauties of stage and screen.

"If a girl is a great singer, she has a diaphragm that's hard to fit. If she's a dancer, she's likely to have overdeveloped legs. Glamorous sweater girls usually are top-heavy. Designing clothes for any woman is a problem, for the job of the designer always is to camouflage her bad points and accent her good ones."

LeMaire, a husky, athletic, 40-year-old man, says he approaches the designing of costumes for each new star in much the way that an engineer figures the stresses and strains of a bridge.

"Take Susan Hayward," says the designer. "She has a real woman's figure—a beautiful figure, but one which requires careful costuming, before the camera. I always make her clothes with a small waistline and a skirt with a fitted yoke top, which gives a smooth, slender outline."

"Then there's Suzy Parker—she's a tall girl and my job is to cut down her apparent height on the screen. So I put her in things like a white lace blouse with a black skirt, or a dress with color contrast at the top."

"To make a short girl look taller, I keep her outfit all one color, from head to foot."

One of LeMaire's clients is the well-endowed Jayne Mansfield, of whom he says: "There's nothing you can do about Jayne. You just have to work around the obstacles."

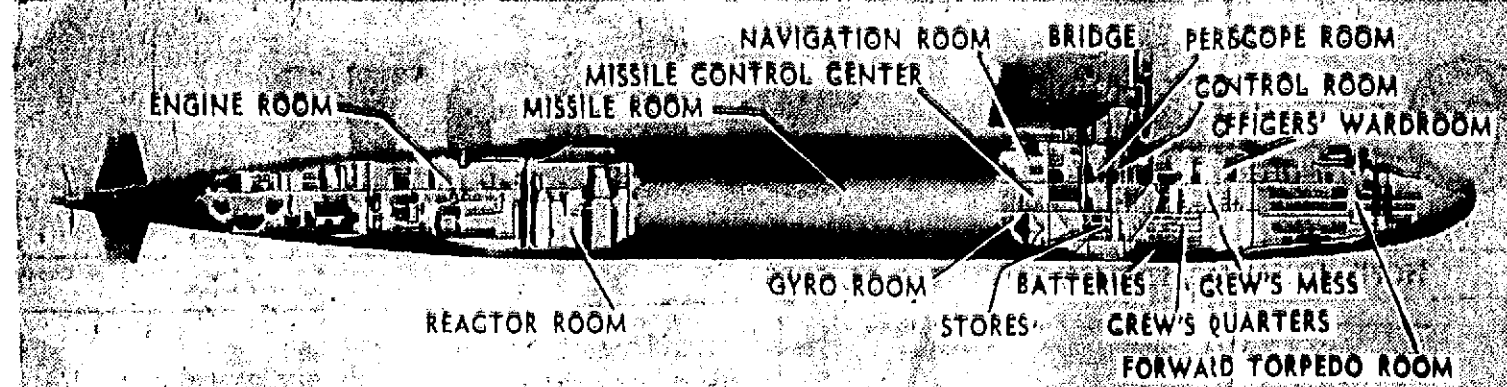

LeMaire was born in Chicago, raised in Salt Lake City and came to New York in his teens to become the best-known theatrical designer on Broadway. Then he moved to Hollywood. He has been head designer for 20th Century-Fox for the last 15 years.

Sports writers have named the U. of A. Razorback Stadium press accommodations among the three best in the nation.

Smokey Says:

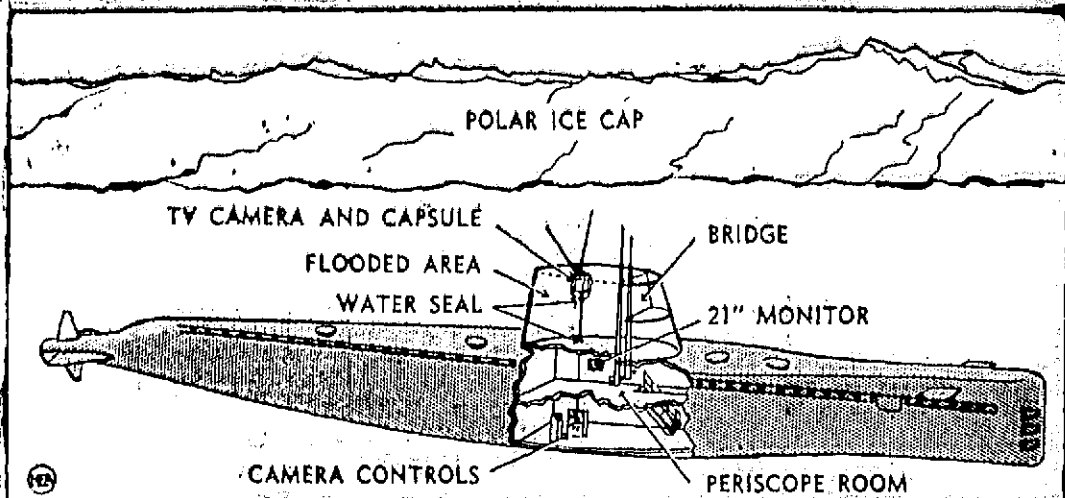

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

A BURNING MATCH WILL PRODUCE 1000 DEGREES OF HEAT

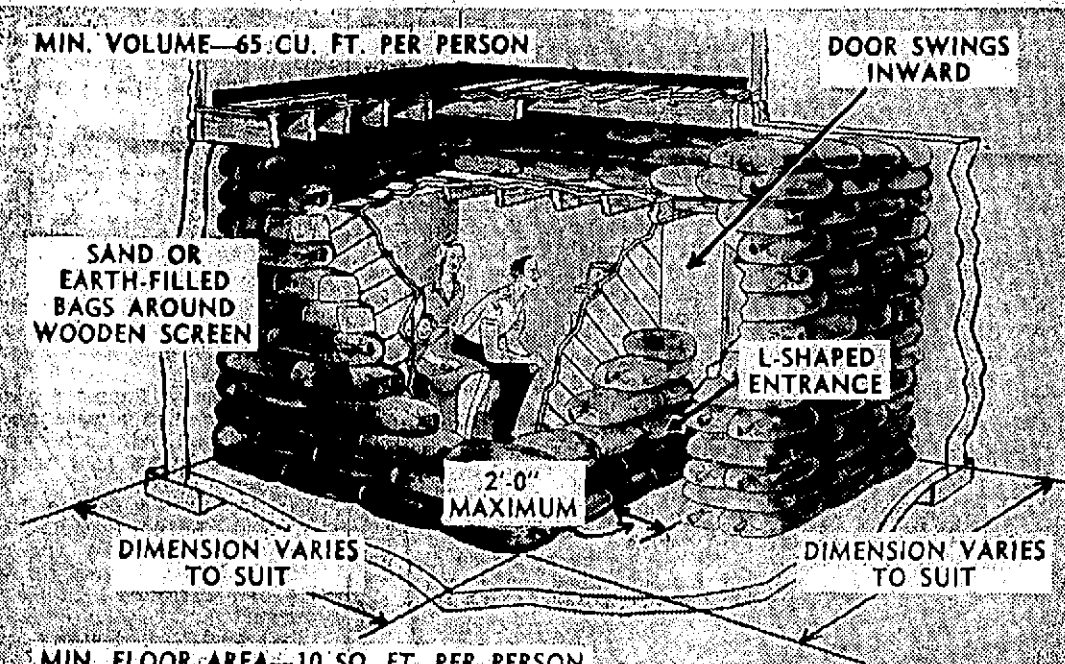

URGE MORE OF THESE—A massive attack by Russian submarines, firing hydrogen warhead missiles, could "level our entire urban society." This was the warning in a report by a panel of experts formed to advise the military subcommittee of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee. On the basis of the future danger, the group urged a strong step-up in our submarine-building program, with special emphasis on Polaris missile-firing craft like the one shown in cutaway sketch above. This shows details of the as yet unnamed SSB(N)599, now being built at the Groton, Conn., yards of the Electric Boat Company. Details of the special hold in the center, which stores and fires Polaris, the 1,000-1,500-mile fleet ballistic missile, are secret. The high-speed craft is 180 feet long, with a displacement of 8,600 tons. First of nine designed to fire Polaris while submerged, it will go to sea in the spring of 1960.

"SEEING EYE" FOR NAUTILUS—One of the most important factors in the success of the USS Nautilus' trip under the polar ice cap was closed-circuit television on which Commander William R. Anderson and his crew could view the bottom of the ice pack and navigate at safe depths. Sketch above shows how the TV was installed. It was developed by General Electric and Mare Island Naval Shipyard engineers. The camera was mounted vertically in a pressurized one-ton capsule in the conning tower. A glass porthole atop the capsule shielded the camera's lens. A cable, strung through two water-tight seals, went into the periscope room, where the monitor screen showed a clear picture of the ice overhead. The camera can "see in the dark" and needs no artificial light even when Nautilus is steaming "very deep" below the surface.

PLAN FOR SURVIVAL—Drawing above is of a low-cost temporary shelter against radioactive fallout (not blast), suitable for most home basements. The office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization in Battle Creek, Mich., recommends it in case of a nuclear attack. Besides sand or earth, ODCM lists other materials that might be used, such as bricks, concrete blocks, books and papers, water in containers and lumber—the thicker the better. Items which should be stored in the shelter are emergency food and water, a battery-operated radio, flashlights, bedding, first-aid kit and sanitation aids. ODCM, under direction of Leo A. Hoehle, is distributing detailed bulletins describing shelters and fallout protective measures.

NEXT CENSUS WILL SHIFT HOUSE SEATS—California is expected to pick up an additional seven seats in the U.S. House of Representatives after the 1960 census, but New York will lose its position as the largest state delegation. Fourteen states will lose seats and nine will gain (see Newsmap) as the nation's burgeoning population, especially in the Far West and Southwest, causes a reapportionment of the House's 435 members, a number which must remain constant under the Constitution. Pennsylvania and New York will drop three seats each and Florida will pick up the same number. Alaska will have one representative. Current figures are on light background, future figures on dark. Data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

Army Plot Broken Up by Lebanon

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Lebanese intelligence officials have broken up a plot hatched in army circles to prevent Gen. Fuad Chehab from taking office as President of the troubled republic Sept. 24. Beirut informants said today.

Success of the planned coup could have dragged Lebanon back to the brink of civil war, since Chehab now is regarded as the only man able to bring the feuding factions together.

According to one account, the plotters hoped to grab control of government in a chaotic long enough to enable outgoing President Camille Chamoun to obtain another six-year term of office.

There was no indication that Chamoun, now serving out his last few days as elected President, was aware of the plot being discussed.

PSC Okays Plant Construction

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission today approved construction of a $42,900,000 steam generating plant by the Arkansas Power Light Co. near Helena.

The plant, with a capacity of 325,000 kilowatts, is scheduled to be in operation by March of 1961.

Ralph R. Pittman, APL&L vice president, told the PSC the Arkansas would suffer a power shortage by 1961 if the proposed Helena plant is not in operation by that time.

Pittman said the plant would cost an estimated 6½ million dollars.

BIRDIE (CAGE)—A 30-year-old Kim Ukyung will learn tricks of the camera trade at the South Korean film festival of Seoul, where he's attending a photographers' workshop. From the city of Taejeon, he's been a professional cameraman for more than 20 years.

He told a British visitor he believed the NAACP was "riddled with Communists."

The visitor is Sir Lynn Ungood, Thomas of London, in Little Rock to study racial troubles.

"I am going to show at hearings," Bennett told Ungood. Thomas, "that the NAACP is and was led by Moscow. I have considerable documentation on which to base this."

Bennett charged that Little Rock's integration troubles were the result of NAACP activities in the city over a period of several years.

Ungood-Thomas said he agreed that racial strife in the South was "playing into the hands of the Communists."

Bennett said he disagreed with that interpretation. He contended that Southern whites and Negroes had been getting along well together until the "NAACP stepped up its campaign to force a conflict between the races."

Ungood-Thomas said he viewed the trouble as "an unhappy pattern running to extremes."

"The problem is more complex," he said, "because even the strong segregationists I have talked with admit that they are aware that integration is coming. They say that they want to delay it only to let the races get better acquainted."

"Mr. Bennett is the first person I have met," he added, "who frankly says that he is against integration and will resist it to the end."

At that, Bennett replied: "I will, but I intend to do my fighting in the courts on legal grounds. I am not a rabble rouser and never intend to be."

He concluded: "Unlike some people, I will not say that I am neither for nor against integration. I say and will say that I oppose it."

UA President Plugs to Keep Sales Tax Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. John T. Caldwell today plugged for retention of the three per cent sales tax and for expansion of the University of Arkansas which has heads as president.

"The ability of the university to meet this year its committed responsibilities to you is positively and unequivocally tied to a retention of the third penny of the sales tax," Caldwell told a civic club here.

The 1957 act which increased the state sales tax from two to three per cent will be subjected to popular vote at the November general election.

Caldwell said $1,700,000 of the $5,800,000 appropriated this year and last to the university's Fayetteville campus, including agriculture research and extension, "comes directly from the third penny of the sales tax."

Reporting a record high enrollment, the university president said the increasing number of students "will require greatly enlarged facilities, faculty and budget."

Failure to supply additional revenue, he said, will make it impossible for the university to maintain its present level of quality.

Caldwell reported that a record 5,681 students had enrolled at the Fayetteville campus and 750 in the Little Rock divisions.

"We believe we will have (at Fayetteville) not less than 8,000 students by 1970 and possibly 10,000," he said.

Caldwell said universities often are misunderstood by the general population. "Public opinion... is not often in tune with the kind of theorizing, idealizing and depth and breadth of concern of a university community."

But, Caldwell, added: "Do not be dismayed when you find that not everyone in the world loves freedom, or respects learning, tolerates what is right, or understands the idealist. It has always seemed that fearful people, comfortable and the mentally impoverished have wanted to close the shutters against lights getting in, and therefore against the advancement of man."

The transcendent obligation of the university by precept and example is to encourage rational thinking, quickened imagination and intelligent citizenship in a free, self-governing society, he concluded.

End Predicted to Rail Passengers

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner today predicted the disappearance of intercity railroad passenger train service within the next 12 years unless there is a reversal in travel trends.

The examiner, Howard Hosmer, based his predictions on an analysis of declining railroad patronage between 1947 and 1957. He said it indicated that parlor and sleeping car service will be gone by 1965 and coach service by 1970.

Commutation trains may be in operation for a time after that, Hosmer said, because it is not feasible to build enough highways in and out of heavily populated metropolitan areas to handle rush hour traffic.

Hosmer submitted his views to the ICC after a year-long investigation into the continuing multi-million-dollar annual losses by the of Capt. and Mrs. Joe Martindale. Jimmy Joy of Palmos son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Joy has entered Southern State College at Magnolia.

DOROTHY DIX
A Smooth Line Causes
Knotty Entanglements

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Maybe I'm just a crazy mixed-up kid who has fallen for a guy with a line, but I'm faced with a problem that is on the way to ruining my social life. Early this summer I met a young man of 21 at the country club to which my parents belong. He made quite an impression on me, has called me up, invited me out and I sure would like to accept. My folks, however, object to him on the grounds that he has an unsavory reputation. They got disgusted if I even mention his name. I think mom and dad are jumping to conclusions; they really don't know him well enough to make a fair judgment. I really want to go out with the boy and would rather go with my parents' consent. If they persist in their disapproval, I'm going away — Lenore.

Dear Lenore: A bad reputation doesn't come free for nothing; it has to be earned. You want something more in a boy friend than a bad name and a good line. Even though it seems unreasonable at this time, take your parents' advice, and don't ever consider sneaking dating. It's a direct path to disaster.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

When school opened last year, Bobbie was a new student. I fell for him — but hard — while he scarcely noticed me. Bobbie won't reward, however, and by the end of the term he at least knew I was alive. His interest grew and during the summer he has been dating me three and four times a week. I guess I'm growing tired of the constant attention because now I find him boring. Is the fault with him or with me?

Connie. The fault, dear Connie, is not you, but in the stars. You're going through the stages of infatuation that mark the teen years. There's nothing new or alarming in outgrowing a boy, but be sure you don't dismiss him today and want him back tomorrow. That says a lack of resolution that is childish, rather than mature.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I've really got a problem. I'm 15 years old. My father is a hard-working man and my mother is doing a married man. He calls me at the house; I hear her arguing to meet him. I haven't got anything to either mom or dad. What can I do about it? I can't give my name and address because mother reads my mail. — W.

Dear W. W.: Write me again, giving your name and address because mother reads the mail. She has a rousing awakening and she realizes that her daughter has had to present a family problem to a total, though understanding, stranger. Parents have a curious habit of assuming that their young are dumb and and when it comes to family problems.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

One of my favorite teachers has caught me cheating. I admit I've done it frequently, but since she discovered my sin, I really feel awful. Can I ever get back to good graces? — Rosalind.

and touch off fierce public debate over Communist China in the middle of the Warsaw talks on the Formosa Strait crisis.

U.S. officials in Washington, however, saw little chance of ending the crisis by Warsaw negotiations. The United States is seeking a cease-fire in Formosa Strait before making any deal with Peking, and Secretary of State Dulles appeared for this before the U.N. Thursday.

But the Chinese radio has rejected the U.S. idea of Peking's renouncing force — although U.S. leaders say they do not consider this Peking's last word.

The Chinese Nationalists also have rejected a cease-fire and possible demilitarization of Quemoy and Matsu since it might blunt their claims to reconquer the mainland someday.

Faubus Considers

An attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said he will go to court if necessary to get a group of Negro children into a white elementary school at Miami, Fla.

Faubus said approval of segregated classes in the Sept. 27 special referendum will make the school facilities surplus property. The School Board can then lease them to private agencies and he urged them to do so. One such agency has already been chartered.

The plan depends heavily on the special election which some lawyers say has no legal significance because of the Supreme Court order to integrate immediately.

The Little Rock School Board, meanwhile, arranged for informal televised classes to begin Monday. School officials have not decided what credit may be given for such work.

Almond closed two schools at Charlottesville, Va., under a state law which automatically halts classes wherever integration is ordered. The white high school at Front Royal was closed last week.

The Warren County (Front Royal) Parent-Teachers Assn. vetoed a move to reopen the school without state funds. The PTA named a committee to make plans for interim pupil instruction.

Six schools in Norfolk apparently will be the next to close, but action by the City School Board may delay it. A federal judge overruled a state court injunction against the board's proceeding with integration plans. The board said it will seek a delay of the integration order and, if that fails, appeal to the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals. State action will await that decision.

G. E. Graves, an NAACP attorney at Miami, said he will appeal to the County School Board and the Florida State School Board if necessary to win admittance of some Negroes to a white school at Miami. Failing there, he said, he will take the case to the Circuit Court at Tallahassee. The county board has rejected applications from 14 Negro children to attend the school.

The Democratic National Committee blamed President Eisenhower for the crisis in school integration. In a Democratic Fact Book the party said if the President had used the moral authority of his office to promote orderly integration the "school-opening crises of these last years could have been avoided."

weapons race. Most U.S. missile experts believe the Soviets already have an operational ICBM.

The liftoff seemed almost perfect, similar to the three previous shoots that were highly successful over a range of about 3,000 miles. After a roaring climb straight up, the 85-foot war rocket leaned toward a horizontal path and darted toward the southeast.

Just as the missile began to burst out a thick vapor trail at an altitude of about 60,000 feet, it burst apart with a brilliant flash. Shattered pieces shot out in all directions from a huge puff of smoke that hung in the sky, and rained down on the Atlantic.

The cause was not announced at first.

President Goes Fishing Again

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower went fishing again today — this time in cold, blustery weather.

Taking off by helicopter from the summer White House at Ft. Adams, the President traveled 20 miles to an inland private lake on the estate of W. Alton Jones, board chairman of the Cities Service Co.

Eisenhower fished there last Saturday, and reportedly caught several trout.

The temperature was a snappy 53 degrees and the wind brisk and raw when Eisenhower set out this morning. Along with him in addition to Jones were two old friends, William B. Robinson, bond salesman of the Coca-Cola Co., and George E. Allen, businessman from Washington and Galesburg, Pa.

The President went fishing after deciding to confer with two defense chiefs in Washington next week instead of at the Newport White House today.

One Mayor to Ride in a Wheelbarrow

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Neither the Mayor of Bentonville or the Mayor of Rogers will get a ride in a wheelbarrow tomorrow morning.

Who does the riding and who does the pushing will be determined tonight by the traditional football battle between the high schools of the two towns.

Bentonville Mayor J. M. Cavinness issued the challenge. He said that if Rogers should defeat Bentonville he would go to the neighboring town and push Rogers Mayor Harold Roberts up the street in a wheelbarrow — if Roberts would do the same in case of a victory by Bentonville. Roberts accepted.

Donations Made to Aid Private Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AT)—Two small contributions of money to help operate private schools in Little Rock were received by the Arkansas Democrat today but the newspaper said it was not accepting such donations.

One of the letters made it plain that the donor thought the after-school public contributions to help finance a plan for operating the city's high schools as private institutions.

All four high schools are closed under proclamation of Gov. Frank B. Rowles to prevent integration ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court.

The newspaper said "the Democrat has no knowledge of any fund-raising campaign, and is not accepting contributions. Letters sent will be turned over to the newly incorporated private school group."

One of the two letters received contained one dollar and the other three. The donors said they hoped Little Rock would receive a million dollars to help operate the schools.

Under legislation passed in the recent special session of the legislature, the state can divert funds to pay tuition for students in private schools whose own high schools have been closed because of integration orders.

WON'T Collect on Property Until '60
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Craighhead County Judge Paul Henshaw said today real property assessments now being made in accordance with state law will not be collected until 1960.
Under the state law equalization law, property must be assessed at 12 per cent of market value. This year, Henshaw said, the county will refrain from collecting the tax until next year. He said the state law would require a proportionate cut in state lump-sum taxes.
Henshaw said professional appraisers have completed work in only two of Craighead's 12 school districts.
"It is apparent that it will not be possible for all of the school districts in the county to have accurate information of assessments in time to prepare feasible reductions in millage by the December school elections," the judge said.
He said the new real property assessments will not be based on the books for collection until next year. Taxes will be based on the new assessments, Henshaw said.
The judge said that despite the postponement of the use of the 12 per cent assessment as a basis for collections, Craighead County still would be complying with the state law and would not lose state turnback money.

The BRAND RIDER by ED LA VANWAY

THE STORY: Nesters have attacked the Four-Arrow ranch, in spite of a promise by their leader, Sorenson that there would be no more raids. Lane, however, says he will not retaliate against the nesters.

Chapter XI

There was little talk around the breakfast table in the cookshack the next morning. The Four-Arrow hands, all but Webster, were stiff faced, and Lane knew it was because he had restrained them from making war on the nesters' settlement. Like Irma, they were remembering the other raid on the ranch and the two hands that were shot down. Finally Webster said, "John, we need some new window glass."

"Yes," Lane said. "I'll send Rodriguez to town with the buckboard this morning to get some. One of the other hands said, 'Better have a few Rodriguez bring back some horseshoes, too. John, I couldn't find any in the blacksmith shed.'"

"What'll we lack them on?" Lane asked.

"Well, round up those broncs again," Lane nodded. He said to Webster, "You fellows can head for Massena Canyon as soon as you're ready. I'm going to talk with the sheriff. Maybe I can find out something about the fellow you said got hit last night."

"Yonder," Webster said, pointing. "Is where I heard that fellow yell. Out at that arroyo. Think we ought to take a look around?"

"We can," Lane said.

They found several rifle shells and a lot of tracks made by sod-buster shoes, and circled around to the long, low horse barn to saddle up. Lane lightened his cinch and stepped back. "It might be best if you look alone a pack horse loaded with grub, Ken?"

Rodriguez came up from the bunkhouse to the woodpile, picking up the ax to split firewood. Lane went over to give him orders about the window glass. Lane came out onto the back porch, now hugging her arms against the early morning chill, and said to Lane, "Aren't you going to do anything at all about the raid last night?"

Lane dropped his gaze for a moment, walking closer to the porch. "I'm going to see the sheriff about it."

"Tom? What good will that do?" Lane said.

"Irma Lane said, 'Why don't you cut pushing me? Let me handle this thing in my own way.' He headed for town a little later, quarreling against the sheriff, now close Lane had come any sun as he followed the road that wound through the sagebrush and greasewood toward Fort Lugo Creek. At the edge of the bosque in the bottom the trail from the Four-Arrow ranch joined the road from the Quarter. Lane and Rodriguez rode north for

Hoffa Will Try to Oust One Monitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa said today he will seek to oust Godfrey P. Schmidt, New York lawyer, from a court-appointed board of monitors named to help police the scandal-seared Teamsters Union.

Hoffa told the Senate Labor Rackets Investigating Committee his lawyers will file a motion in federal court asking removal of Schmidt for conflict of interests.

Hoffa did not say what conflict of interests would be the basis of the motion.

Hoffa told newsmen, however, that he felt Schmidt "represents the employers as well as us." He declined to elaborate. His counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, said he did not know when the motion for Schmidt's ouster may be filed.

Hoffa's announcement of the ouster plans came when Robert F. Kennedy, Senate Rackets Committee counsel, asked if Hoffa ever had attempted to hire a private detective to investigate Schmidt.

"I didn't," Hoffa said, "and I know of no one who did. I'll say this — Godfrey Schmidt is so well known I don't know why anyone would want to investigate him."

Schmidt was counsel for 13 New York Teamsters members in an unsuccessful suit in the U.S. District Court here to block the seating of Hoffa as president on grounds that his election was rigged.

The suit finally was settled with U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts appointing a three-member board of monitors — including Schmidt — to supervise union operations.

In other testimony, Hoffa heardly denied that he had threatened to have Sol Lipman, the lawyer for a rival union, slain.

"I did not," Hoffa snapped in reply to a question by Kennedy.

The committee has evidence to the contrary, Kennedy declared.

Kennedy did not explain the basis for his question, nor say when or where he heard the threat had been voiced against Lipman, counsel to the Retail Clerks Union. Aides said Lipman was not in the hearing room.

The murder threat allegation was tossed into the hearing when Hoffa described a stormy meeting with Lipman in which, Hoffa said, he told Lipman the Clerks' Union was making a mistake in a break with the Teamsters.

Kennedy asked whether Hoffa had not told Lipman that he could have him shot without fear because "juries treated you very well."

"I did not say to Sol Lipman anything like that," Hoffa replied.

Hoffa also:

1. Testified that the union's Detroit lawyer George S. Fitzgerald never told him that Fitzgerald was getting a fee from Detroit real estate promoters who borrowed a million dollars from a Teamsters welfare fund on which it defaulted.

2. Defended a labor contract with the Midwest Burlap Bag Co. of Des Moines, Iowa, while the committee contended was designed primarily to undercut the efforts of the Textile Workers Union to get a contract.

3. Acknowledged that some limited membership claims from a Michigan Retail Clerks Union gave him extra friendly votes in the Michigan Federation of Labor.

banker — afraid of losing him as a source of income, Lane left him.

Economic Recovery Is Much Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — With things looking up in the steel, auto and textile industries, the economic recovery promises to keep going into next year.

That's a summary of the views given to Secretary of Commerce Weeks Thursday by his Business Advisory Council.

The council, comprised of top executives of about 100 of the nation's biggest firms, met with Weeks Thursday behind closed doors.

Afterwards, Weeks said the industrialists were "very confident that business will go on improving throughout the fall and into next year."

The secretary gave this rundown on conditions in the steel, auto and textile industries, all of which were hurting during the recession:

Steel — As steel-using industries move to build up depleted stocks, increased production rate expected to continue.

Auto — Apparent end of industry-wide strike threat sparks hopes for unimpeded economic recovery. Big orders for steel and other materials for 1959 models counted on to boost output. Auto, industry spokesmen on BAC expect improved car-selling year ahead.

Textiles — Representatives on BAC report better-than-anticipated third quarter business in this industry.

Says 50c Pill Can Prevent Pregnancy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Harvard University gynecologist said Wednesday a 50-cent pill to prevent pregnancy has proved 100 per cent effective in a 2½ year test.

Dr. John Rock, clinical professor emeritus of gynecology at the Harvard Medical School, told a news conference called by the Planned Parenthood Assn. of San Francisco Inc., that results were decisive in experiments with 205 women in Puerto Rico and also in Los Angeles. He said there were no lasting side effects.

Dr. Rock's views differed markedly from those of two physicians who tested the pills and reported results at the American Medical Assn. convention here last June.

Drs. Edward T. Tyler and Henry J. Olson of the UCLA Medical School said that in tests covering 3,082 woman-months there were 22 pregnancies for a 9.3 per cent rate, about the same rate as for other contraceptive methods.

The drug is a synthetic compound, chemically related to sex hormones, that halts production of eggs in the female ovary, Dr. Rock said. Egg production resumes when the pill taking stops, he added.
